Modular exhibition systems

MERO-TSK International GmbH & Co. KG

MERO offers a wide range of construction elements, which are distributed not only as individual product lines but also as packages or part turn-key solutions. The philosophy of transferring natural laws into construction technology has continued to shape the aims and methods of the company implementing state-of-the-art technologies in design, manufacturing and construction.

Supported by latest technologies as regards to construction, production and management, MERO has become one of the market-leaders in Germany and abroad.

MERO Exhibit Systems: We produce answers with development, production as well as worldwide distribution of modular systems for trade fairs, exhibition and sales promotion.
